

AHCA Vote Withdrawn, PPACA Remains Intact

By Emily Tonkovich

On March 24th, the House vote on the Republican's proposed American Health Care Act (AHCA) was withdrawn, leaving the PPACA in place.

While efforts to replace the PPACA have been put on hold, continued action to modify the PPACA through regulatory or legislative changes is likely. However, until any changes become law, it is imperative that employers plan on continuing to comply with the PPACA.

BRSi will continue to monitor this issue and keep clients informed.
